About the Webinar

Being located in the biodiversity hotspot region, the entire North East India has a rich diversity of species and become a region of international importance regarding biodiversity. News about discovering new species with peculiar and distinct characteristics is continuously reporting from this region. However, it still remains as a tough and herculean task to explore the untapped areas due to various reasons. On the other hand, conservation of the various species is highly essential. If appropriate actions are not taken up, many undiscovered species may have lost and disappeared from the earth. It is therefore, the topic “Taxonomy, Diversity & Conservation of Freshwater Fishes of North East India” is taken up.

Registration: Registration fee: NIL, Number of participations is limit to 100 only.
