Undergraduate Programme in Philosophy

The Proposed Programme shall be governed by the Department of Philosophy, School of Humanities, Manipur University. This new curriculum of Undergraduate Programme in Philosophy offers an updated syllabus in tune with the National Education Policy 2020 of the Government of India; the University Grants Commission's Guidelines for the Learning Outcomes-based Curriculum Framework (LOCF); the National Higher Education Qualifications Framework (NHEQF) 2023; the National Credit Framework 2023; the Curriculum and Credit Framework for Undergraduate Programmes 2024 of the University Grants Commission; and the University Grants Commission (Minimum Standards of Instruction for the Grant of Undergraduate Degree and Postgraduate Degree) Regulations, 2025, which will bring students to the forefront of philosophical debates in various areas of philosophy, viz., metaphysics, epistemology, ethics, logic, aesthetics and many other newly emerging philosophical areas. The syllabus is a combination of traditional aspects of philosophy along with modern trends.

Introduction

Philosophy is learning to think. In the beginning, the mystery of Existence taught men how to think, giving rise to love of wisdom of the great Sages of the Hellenic civilization from Thales to Aristotle via Socrates. The mystery of Existence on the one hand and the inscrutable ways of human nature on the other were areas of adventurous exploration. The passionate engagement of the Sages gave rise to all the hitherto existing intellectual and spiritual disciplines of mankind, including our children of yesteryear like Anthropology and Economics. Thanks to their efforts, from learning to learn or thinking to think Philosophy gradually crystallizes into a discipline of teaching man to think. That generated the Idea of Academy, Gymnasium, and University and of course, Curriculum. Learning and teaching to think gave mankind the impetus to choose a unique destiny and the rest is history. The discovery of techne, the birth of technology, institutionalization of creating and imparting skill, evolving knowledge-based society – these follow from the categorical imperative of the fundamental philosophizing enterprise.

Programmes Structure

The Undergraduate Programme in Philosophy shall be FOUR YEARS duration with multiple exit and entry options. Each year the courses will be conducted such as Level 4.5: Bachelor's Certificate, Level 5: Bachelor's Diploma, Level 5.5: Bachelor's Degree and Level 6.0: Bachelor's Degree with Honours/Honours with Research.

Each course will carry 100 marks of which 30 marks shall be reserved for internal assessment based on classroom participation, seminars, term papers (home assignment), tests, and attendance. The weightage given to each of these components shall be decided and announced at the beginning of the semester by the individual teacher assigned as Course-in-Charge. Any student who fails to participate in classes, seminars, term papers, and test will be debarred from appearing in the end semester examination in the specific course and no Internal Assessment marks will be awarded to such a candidate. His/her Internal Assessment marks will be awarded as and when he/she attends regular classes in the course and other assessment tests in the applicable semester. No special classes will be conducted for him/her during other semesters. The remaining 70 marks in each paper shall be awarded on the basis of a written examination at the end of each semester.

Learning Outcomes based approach to Curriculum Planning

The learning outcomes-based curriculum framework for Undergraduate Programme in Philosophy is based on the graduate attributes that a graduate in philosophy is expected to attain along coupled with the expected learning outcomes of each course and the combined course. The curriculum for Undergraduate Programme in Philosophy is prepared keeping in mind the needs, expectations and aspirations of students in philosophy as well as the modernizing trends and methodological perspectives of philosophy as a subject. The course learning outcomes and the programme learning outcomes specify the knowledge, understanding, skills, attitudes, values that a student completing this degree is expected to inculcate and know.

Nature and extent of the Undergraduate Programme in Philosophy

Philosophy is taken to be an abstract study about the fundamental structure of the world. It works towards foundations of each and every subject that is investigating the nature of the world but it does not only deal with foundations of science but with foundations of humanities as well, including that of social structures. The scope of philosophy is therefore vast. Philosophy inculcates the habits of logical reasoning, avoiding fallacious reasoning, thinking more carefully about the place of each and every aspect of nature vis-à-vis the whole of nature. A philosophy student emerges as a critical thinker who accepts nothing at face value. The philosophy student will contribute to society through positive reflection about its various facets.

In pursuing these aims, Undergraduate Programme in Philosophy aims at developing the ability to think critically, logically and analytically and hence use philosophical reasoning in practical situations. Pursuing a degree in philosophy will make students pursue interesting careers in media, education, law, politics, government, etc.

The Undergraduate Programme in Philosophy covers the full range of philosophy, from classical Indian Philosophy and Greek Philosophy to Modern Logic, Ethical theories of Mill and Kant and contemporary reflections on current debates in applied ethics and bio ethics, analytic philosophy and continental philosophy, philosophy of science and law, and core courses in Indian and western philosophy texts. Current issues in feminist theory are also dealt with. There are many choices students have regarding which options they can take which makes the Honours syllabus a rich and diverse experience for students.

Aims of Undergraduate Programme in Philosophy

The overall aims of Undergraduate Programme in Philosophy are:

- To encourage and nurture the mental strength for participating in philosophizing activity by adopting various critical thinking tools developed in the philosophical projects, and to instil the dialectical thought process which will enable them to make their independent opinion and interpretation on the issues and problems.
- To prepare an academic ambience for critical analysis and examination on the existing ideas propagated so far by various philosophers at the global level concerning the major different schools of thought, movement in philosophy.
- To provide a broad outline of the current state of knowledge and research in a given field to have a clear picture of the academic environment and to understand how to deal with issues philosophically and also train to look for solutions to contemporary problems from the philosophical perspectives.

Graduate Attributes in Philosophy

Some of the graduate attributes in philosophy are listed below:

- Disciplinary knowledge: Comprehensive knowledge and understanding of the subject areas, engagement with different philosophical systems both Indian and Western, and application of knowledge in practice encompassing multi-disciplinary or multi-professional areas.
- Communications skills: Quality of public speaking that conveys ideas and information in various interactions with people. The effectiveness in the discourse, clarity of ideas empowering the students to provide a positive contribution in achieving a common goal.
- Creative and critical thinking: Ability to analyze and identify relevant assumptions, hypothesis, implications or conclusions; understand and formulate logically correct arguments and understand various aspects of the arguments put forward by philosophers regarding fundamental concepts such as existence, substance, causation, mind, truth, beauty and justice.
- Research-related skills: Capability to come up with novel ideas that would further enrich the subject and thinking to conceive innovative responses to future challenges.
- Self-directed learning: Ability to work independently, to prepare for living and learning in a digital world, and to search relevant resources for self-learning for upgrading knowledge in philosophy.
- Moral and ethical competency: Inculcating a lasting habit to make a global citizen and engaging in any work of life with honesty, sincerity, and responsibility towards humanity as a whole.

Qualification descriptors Undergraduate Programme in Philosophy

Students who choose Undergraduate Programme in Philosophy, develop the ability to think critically, logically and analytically and hence use philosophical reasoning to develop sophisticated theories and also in everyday life.

Undergraduate Programme in Philosophy consists of Major discipline (Compulsory Courses), Discipline Specific Courses (Major optional) and Minor course along with courses like Multidisciplinary Course, Ability Enhancement Course, Skill Enhancement Course, Value Added Course and internship/dissertation, etc. A student qualifying in the discipline will have broad knowledge of Indian philosophy and western philosophy; the student will know specific details of the theories of analytic and continental philosophy; the student will develop highly specific skills in logic, ethics, metaphysics, epistemology and will be well informed about current trends in feminism and social issues related to applied ethics and bio ethics.

Programme Learning Outcomes in Undergraduate Programme in Philosophy

The completion of Undergraduate Programme in Philosophy will enable a student to:

- Expose the students in the learning process of general philosophical trends both Western and Indian by adopting critical tools of analyzing problems and also inculcate the skill of problem solving in a wide spectrum of historical context.
- Develop the generic skill and global competencies in the familiarisation of the contemporary trend of research and knowledge in a given field and look for the solution for philosophical problems in contemporary times.
- Expose the students in the issues and problems of metaphysics, epistemology, logic, and ethics for understanding the general trends in philosophical investigations.
- Engage the student to acquire analytical and critical thinking skills for enabling to apply in further higher research.

Courses of Undergraduate Programme in Philosophy

The programme shall have the following course components:

Core/Major Course

There are 15/20 core papers consisting of 2 papers in I Year (8 credits), 6 papers in II Year (24 credits), 7 papers in III Year (28 credits) and 5 papers in IV Year (20 credits).

Elective/Minor Course

Generally, an elective course is a course which can be chosen from a pool of courses which may be very specific or specialised or supportive to the students other than philosophy discipline for widening their knowledge and enabling them to expose to the other field of study so that they can have a multidisciplinary knowledge. An elective course may be three types:

- Multidisciplinary Course (MDC)
- Minor Discipline (MNC)

This course opens to the students for selecting any course from the pull of discipline offered as MNC provided as Minor Discipline in other department.

- Dissertation/Project/Internship

Ability Enhancement Course (AEC):

This course comprises of two kinds of courses based on ability enhancement and skill enhancement of the students exposing to community life and culture through which their knowledge will help them to adapt in demand of social responsibilities and also able to apply in understanding the social realities. The two kinds of courses are Ability Enhancement Course (AEC) and Skill Enhancement Course (SEC).

Ability Enhancement Course (AEC) and Skill Enhancement Course (SEC) will be the main component of the course. AEC course is based on the content that leads to knowledge enhancement on English/MIL for communication skill and academic writing. This course is mandatory to all students. The papers for AEC course may be chosen from a common pool of courses designed to provide value-based and/or skill-based knowledge.

Skill Enhancement Course (SEC) is value-based and/or skill-based which would provide hands-on-writing, competencies, skills, such as writing, listening, reading and speaking. Each of the AEC and SEC courses shall carry 4/3 credits.

Value Added Course (VAC):

These are courses that may help in the development of all capacities of human beings – intellectual, aesthetic, social, physical, emotional, and moral in an integrated manner. It includes subjects like Yoga, Sports, Health Care, NCC, NSS, Ethics, Culture, etc. VAC courses may be chosen from a pool of courses. Each VAC course shall carry 2 Credits.

The schedule of papers prescribed for various semesters shall be as follows:

CONTEMPORARY WESTERN PHILOSOPHY

Course Objective:

The course aims at introducing the student to the techniques of philosophical analysis and analytical trends in western philosophy. It will help the students in understanding the paradigm shift in philosophical analysis and solving the problems. This paper highlights the importance of language and its meaning in understanding the relationship between thought and reality.

Course Learning Outcome:

At the end of the course, the student's desire to develop further the skill of philosophical analysis will be fully aroused. From the study of Russell, Moore and Wittgenstein, he will see that Philosophy is philosophizing activity itself. He will realize that the point of learning philosophy is to prepare oneself for engagement in philosophizing activity.

- Historical background and development of Philosophical Analysis.
- Linguistic turns: Ideal language and Ordinary language debate; Early realism; Logical atomism; Logical positivism; Ordinary language philosophy.
- Moore: Concept of language and philosophy; Common sense approach. Russell: Concept of language and philosophy; Application of logic in philosophy.
- Theories of Meaning: Frege's Reference theory of meaning; Russell's Denotative theory of meaning; Wittgenstein's Picture theory of meaning; Verification theory of meaning of Logical Positivists.

FEMINIST PHILOSOPHY

Course Objective:

The objective of this course is to acquaint the student with the various concepts of philosophy and its practical issues in understanding the reality from the perspectives of gender neutrality. The debates in the conceptualization of the ontological as well as epistemological spheres can be re-evaluated by arguing against the predominant concepts.

Course Learning Outcome:

At the end of the course, the student will realize that gender injustice is essentially political, that gender emancipation is part of the emancipation of mankind. His study of the classics of feminist thought will empower him to give a better critique of patriarchy—that citadel of male domination. His acquaintance with ethics of care, ethics of autonomy and gender justice will facilitate his transformation into a total man. He will be more sensitive to the imperatives of women empowerment.

- Feminist Movement – Feminist consciousness, Liberal feminism, Marxist feminism.
- Metaphysical and epistemic presuppositions of feminism, Gender dichotomy and Feminist epistemology, criticism of andro-centricism.
- Feminist theology and Feminist social and political philosophy.

HISTORY OF WESTERN PHILOSOPHY - II

Course Objective:

This course is designed to expose the students to the development of British empiricism developed by Locke, Berkeley and Hume and the German Idealism with special reference to the contributions of Immanuel Kant and G.W.F. Hegel. The philosophical debates and the different approaches to the study are the main thrust of this course.

Course Learning Outcome:

The student will be mastering the empiricist systems of Locke, Berkeley and Hume which is foundational change in philosophical tradition and growth of Kant's critical philosophy and Hegel's dialectical interpretation of being. This will be based on the creative and critical study of the texts, which is an intellectual training in itself.

- Locke: Criticism of Innate Ideas, Origin of Knowledge, Nature and Validity of Knowledge, The Limits of Knowledge.
- Berkeley: Rejection of Abstract Ideas, Theory of Knowledge, The Doctrine of esse est percipi.
- Hume: Origin of Knowledge; Relation of Ideas and Matters of Facts; Relation of Cause and Effect; Knowledge of the External World.
- Kant: The Problem of Knowledge, The Distinction between Analytic and Synthetic Judgements, The Distinction between a priori and empirical knowledge; A priori synthetic judgements; The Theory of Sense Perception; The Theory of the Understanding; Phenomena and Noumena.
- Hegel: The Problem of Philosophy, The Dialectical Method.

INDIAN PHILOSOPHY – II

Course Objective:

This paper deals with Pramāna-Śāstra (Logic and Epistemological inquiry) within the broader frameworks of Classical Indian Philosophy. This course allows the students to acquaint with the Indian approaches to the epistemological problems.

Course Learning Outcome:

The theories of truth, error and testing of validity and invalidity of Indian tradition will give the skill of comparative study and potentialities of theorization. Gadādhar Bhaṭṭacārya's Theory of Objectivity (Viśayatā-vāda) and Nyāya's the Theory of Extrinsic validity and invalidity Parataḥ (Pramāṇavāda) and also its opposite Theory of Intrinsic Validity (Svataḥ Pramāṇya-vāda) is the foundational epistemic theory. Similar is the case when it comes to Pūrva Mīmāṃsā's theory of knowledge its hermeneutics in their possible interpretative values in the light of epistemic oriented western hermeneutics etc.

- Nyāya: Nature of knowledge (Pramā), Sources of valid knowledge (Pramāṇas) – Perception (Pratyakṣa), Inference (Anumāna), Comparison (Upamāna), and Testimony (Śabda).
- Vaiśeṣika: Categories (Padārthas), Theory of the Creation and Destruction of the World.
- Sāṃkhya-Yoga: The Sāṃkhya Theory of Causation, Evolution, Purusa and Prakṛti; The Yoga Psychology and Eightfold Means of Yoga.
- Mīmāṃsā: Theory of Knowledge and The Philosophy of Ritualistic Actions; The Conception of Duty (Dharma).
- Vedānta: Brahman, Īsvara, Ātman, Jīva, Jagat, Māyā, Avidyā, Adhyāsa and Mokṣa with special reference to the Monism of Śankara (Advaita) and the Qualified Monism of Rāmānuja (Viśistādvaita).

RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

Course Objective:

The essential objective of this course is to introduce and integrate the difficult competency of Research Methodology as a related course content alongside other courses offered so that, their necessary research aptitude will be a part of their entire university level higher and advanced academic studies.

Course Learning Outcome:

At the end of this course, the students are expected to know the approaches, skills and techniques etc necessary for undertaking higher level philosophical researches as solutions to their perceived new philosophical problems.

- Descartes' Rules for the Direction of the Mind and Discourse on Method
- Conceptual and linguistic analysis: Method of linguistic analysis in contemporary research in philosophy.
- Dialectical reasoning: Application of dialectical reasoning in contemporary philosophical research.
- Phenomenological approach, Hermeneutical approach, in contemporary research.
- Method in Indian Philosophy: Samvad: Purvapaksa (prior view), Khandana (criticism) and Sidhanta (conclusion).

KNOWLEDGE & SCEPTICISM

Course Objective:

This course is designed to facilitate the students to become familiar with the fundamental philosophical challenge posed by scepticism against the concept of knowledge of empiricism.

Course Learning Outcome:

The expected learning outcome of the students is in terms of their ability to understand and respond to the essential philosophical conflict between the possibility of the empiricist knowledge established by Locke, Berkley and Hume etc, and sceptic arguments against it.

- Scepticism and Problem of knowledge
- Ayer's argument in defense of possibility of knowledge
- Knowledge: Gettier's Problem and Responses
- Nozick's Conditional Theory of Knowledge
- Foundationalism and Its Problems

PHILOSOPHY OF SCIENCE

Course Objective:

The purpose of this paper is to prepare the learning aptitude of students required for their developing the skills to have critical knowledge of the philosophical foundations or the philosophical implications of the pursuits of science. Another important aspect of the stated course objective is to teach the points of divergence and convergence between the method of philosophy and science.

Course Learning Outcome:

The learning outcome of this course consists in the developing the inter-disciplinary oriented personality of learners so that, they may enable in facing the ever-emerging problems and prospects of today's science and technology-controlled world of globalisation.

- Perspectives in Philosophy of Science: Historical (Toulmin and Kuhn) and Logical Empiricist Perspectives. Hempell, Rudolf Carnap.
- Philosophical aspects of Biology: Organismic Biology - Reductionism. The relation of physical science to Biology.
- Space and Time: Idealistic (Kant), Realistic (Samuel Alexander), Relativistic (Einstein) and Anti-intellectualistic (Henri Bergson) theories.

ECO-PHILOSOPHY

Course Objective:

This course is designed with the objective of training the students to expand the scope and depth of their traditional philosophical studies to encompass the relatively new fields of knowledge, understanding and applications required for studying the philosophical foundations of ecological or environmental issues.

Course Learning Outcome:

The students are expected to possess the necessary extent and depth of their learning in the light of their constructivist learning abilities to offer Eco-Philosophical approaches of praxis oriented philosophically feasible theoretical solutions.

- The Evolution of Man: Anthropological development of man – Anthropological rationalism.
- Evolutionary Theories: Darwin – Lamarck – Bergson – Aurobindo – Teilhard de Chardin.
- Philosophical study of Man and Environment: Dialectic of Ecology – Epistemology – Towards a philosophical history science – science and philosophy.
- Man – Society in Interaction: Values – Human rights – justice – Technology and environment.
- Sociology and ideology of Rural India: Indian peasantry their development – Changing Society. Progress: Self Defeating perfectionism – Restriction as progress the unimaginable future of man.

PHILOSOPHY OF LOGIC

Course Objective:

The essential objective of this course is to make the students to become satisfactorily with the time tested fundamental and apriori oriented logico-theoretical based principles that underlie or are anticipated by or presupposed by every type of standard critical logical reasoning. This is deemed as a necessity for honing the learning processes of the learners to develop the abilities for innovative philosophical, thinking, reflections and understanding etc.

Course Learning Outcome:

The young learners are expected to possess in depth understanding and out of box thinking abilities of analysing, examining, evaluating, assessing and offering newer solutions to complex but fundamental theoretico-logical issues. The learning outcome also consists in shaping the learners academic thinking with the aptitudes of the abilities to handle paradigmatically difficult higher researches, not only in logic and epistemology per say, but also in the unavoidable creative applications of logical method in every field of philosophical studies.

- Logical Appraisal: Inconsistency; Reasoning; Logician's Second Order Vocabulary
- Formal Logic: Generality; Form; System
- Truth-Function: Truth tables; Truth functional constants and ordinary language; Truth functional constants and logical relations
- Deductive System of Truth Functions
